

KROHNE concludes framework contract with Uhde

KROHNE Messtechnik has concluded a framework contract at this year's Hannover trade fair/Interkama with Uhde regarding the supply of flowmeters. The agreement encompasses electro-magnetic, Coriolis and float type flowmeters. In addition, Uhde can also obtain ultrasonic and vortex flowmeters from KROHNE with very favorable terms.

KROHNE views the conclusion of this framework contract as confirmation of its competence in the ultrasonic field and as a mark of success of its latest Vortex flowmeter. For Uhde, the contract enables them to handle projects with greater efficiency, which will benefit the end customer. Stephan Neuburger, manager of the KROHNE group, explains: "We are very pleased that the many years of faithful cooperation between KROHNE and Uhde has now culminated in a framework contract, which will bring comprehensive advantages to both sides."
